Jr. SPECIAL COMMITTEE
SPsMUN 2026

Head Chair
Maria Eugenia Barreto

Chair
Pedro Ribas

CONTENTS

CONTENTS	2
LETTER FROM THE DAIS	3
INTRODUCTION TO THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE	5
Investigating the Ethical Implications of the Hunger Games	7
BACKGROUND INFORMATION	8
CURRENT SITUATION	10
MAJOR BLOC POSITIONS	13
TIMELINE OF EVENTS	19
DEFINITION OF KEY TERMS	22
GUIDING QUESTIONS	24
WORKS CITED	25

LETTER FROM THE DAIS

Dear delegates,

My name is Maria Eugenia and will be serving as your head chair, and I have always been passionate about debate. Sharing my own opinions and beliefs as well as taking into account the perspective of others has always fascinated me. Thus, I started MUN two years ago, as a way of deepening my understanding of debate. I have to say, I was not disappointed: the fascinating nature and flow of debate was even more evident once I attended conferences. I hope that all delegates can enjoy themselves whilst we go through the eventful world of the Hunger Games, and engage in fruitful debate. That being said, I aspire to guide and support you through these fruitful debates during the conference!

My name is Pedro Ribas, and I am currently an 8th grader at Chapel School. I am extremely excited to chair the Jr Special Committee ofSPsMUN 2026, as it will be my first time chairing and also featuring one of my favorite series of movies and books: “The Hunger Games”. As a chair, I will make the debate as engaging, challenging and fun as possible, where we will all dive in and critically think about the dystopian society of Panem. Having been a delegate over 6 times, I have learned the importance of being principled, knowledgeable, open-minded and also, in my opinion, the most important: being an inquirer. I will be for sure eager to support and learn with all of you about your comprehension, perspectives, and critiques of a dystopian society!

Finally, we would like to extend a heartfelt welcome to every single one of you, and acknowledge that being a “Major Bloc” position or not, we invite you to make the most of the sessions and debate with passion. We look forward to delving in the universe of the Hunger Games, looking to explore each and every nuance, each and every position. Delegates, may the odds EVER be in your favor!

Sincerely,

Maria Eugenia Barreto, maria.drummond2011@gmail.com

Pedro Ribas, pedro.zerillo.ribas@gmail.com

INTRODUCTION TO THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Welcome to the Special Committee!

As the name already suggests, this committee will be special, following different rules and procedures that a Model UN debate would follow. We will have minor changes in procedure, however we will follow 100% of the universe of "The Hunger Games". The following sections will help you to understand how the debate will happen and what different rules/concepts we will be dealing with.

Personal Pronouns:

Due to the fact this is a Special Committee, and delegates will be representing characters, you will be allowed to use personal pronouns. Delegates should also refer to each other as their designated character name:

Ex; Katniss, are you aware of…?

Plot Conditions:

The committee will be taking place in Panem and there will be some major modifications on plot such as:

1) The Dais will not be considering any event that happens during "The Mockingjay";
2) Some characters that will be in the debate may have died or were posterior disregarded during the series; during committee sessions they will be both alive and active.
3) In the "current situation" section, there are some plot changes and adjustments;reading the section will explain the reason behind the committee and why all characters are gathering together.
4) Delegates may find extra information in the following books:

a. Ballad of Songbirds and Snakes (with a movie version available)
b. Sunrise on the Reaping
c. The Hunger Games (with a movie version available)
d. Catching Fire (with a movie version available)

Motions:

For this Special Committee, all the MUN regular motions will be used.

Props:

Delegates may use props to better represent their character, however they should still follow the conference's dress code and dress informal attire. Examples of props may be considered; necklaces, hats, items etc.

Investigating the Ethical Implications of the Hunger Games

(https://www.reddit.com/r/Hungergames/comments/11xkepq/could_a_tribute_escape_the_arena/)

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Panem, the place where the Hunger Games occur, is situated in North America. It is made up of a main district, the Capitol, and 13 residential districts. Panem's central dictatorship operates in the Capitol, which has an army of Peacekeepers to maintain order around the districts. This injustice remains until the 'Dark Days', a civil war led by district 13, which challenges the oppressive nature of the Capitol. However, the rebellion collapses, thus creating a destroyed district 13. The citizens of Panem, and the Capitol think district 13 is destroyed, however some manage to salvage its ruins and turn it into a secret base for nuclear weapons. The Capitol, as punishment for the rebellion, establishes a Treaty of Treason, which enforces severe consequences on the people of Panem, as well as instilling the Hunger Games. The Hunger Games had the purpose of reminding all citizens of what would happen if another rebellion was attempted. Additionally, violence, restrictions on human rights and meticulous monitoring follow,, and communication between districts is prohibited.

Furthermore, each of the Districts is responsible for producing specific goods for the Capitol. The District citizens have little choice of any career paths outside of their designated Districts. Trade between Districts is also banned as a way to ensure that most goods go to the Capitol, which, established by the Treaty of Treason, bans communications between Districts to ensure isolation. There is also a huge spread of inequality throughout the Districts, with wealthy Districts like 1, 2, and 4, or others in extreme poverty, such as 10, 11, and 12. Districts 1, 2, 4, as mentioned above, were the career Districts. They are the wealthiest Districts after the Capitol, and were also the Capitol's main supporters. Their industry is very varied: it could be based on more technological resources, such as weaponry and masonry, or natural resources, such as fishing. Meanwhile, District 10 is based on livestock, 11 on agriculture, and 12 on coal mining. Thus, each District has a designated responsibility, which is all a means of serving the Capitol.

Now, the Hunger Games itself. The Hunger Games consists of various steps. Firstly, the Reaping, which is a ceremony where one boy and one girl are chosen from each District of ages 12-18. They can choose to enter their name many times in return for additional supplies of grain and oil (Tessarea). Then the tributes are escorted to the Capitol by an escort and mentored by another victor of their District. Proceeding this, tributes spend days in the training centre, where they can develop their skills and then get assigned a score by the gamemakers, in a search for sponsors. Sponsors are vital for survival in the hunger games because Sponsors can send food, medicine, or resources to tributes in the Arena using silver parachutes. However, these gifts are expensive and increase in price as the games reach an end. The Hunger Games happen in an Arena: a large, enclosed, high-technology landscape that varies year after year. The Games begin at the Cornucopia, at the center of the Arena. During the games, Gamemakers can create natural disasters to eliminate tributes or introduce mutations. The remaining Tribute is the victor.

Every Quarter Quell (every 25 years) of the Hunger Games, the Gamemakers make changes to the Games to captivate more attention and bring more excitement; however, this is always something that would fit their own interests. For example, when Katniss Everdeen wins the 74th Hunger Games and becomes a symbol of courage, righteousness, and survival, she also becomes a powerful image of hope for the citizens of Panem. The Capitol, understanding that their power is being threatened, decides to plan a quarter quell which removes any and all lasting threats that had ever won the Hunger Games, or in other words: any lasting victor. This assembled group of individuals, all with the mission of saving Katniss Everdeen and taking her to District 13, gives way to a big rebellion.

CURRENT SITUATION

The Quell

The Treaty of Treason is a peace settlement proposed by the Capitol to end the Dark Days (the civil war in Panem) and also punish the Districts for rebelling against the Capitol. The Treaty of Treason aims to showcase that the Capitol is superior and stronger than any other District in Panem, and also to warn them of the consequences the Districts will face if they rebel against the Capitol (just like in the Dark Days).

This same treaty also enforced poverty, hunger, and isolation through all 12 Districts. It was in the Treaty of Treason that the Hunger Games was born; a punishment that reminds Districts yearly that they should never again rebel against the Capitol. However, every quarter-century anniversary, the Treaty of Treason announces that a Quarter Quell will be hosted, a special edition of the Hunger Games. Quarter Quells are well-known for having twists on the Reaping ceremony, Arena, Tributes, etc. For example in the second Quarter Quell (The Hunger Games 50th anniversary) instead of two tributes per District being reaped, four were instead, doubling the amount of Tributes reaped from 2 to 4 per District, also enlarging the Arena.

As this year Panem hosted the 75th Annual Hunger Games (3rd Quarter Quell) introducing the twist that only victors will be reaped this year, as an attempt to legally kill the victors because they could be possible faces of a future rebellion due to the fact they are the only ones who once surpassed the capitol and beat their system, especially Katniss Everdeen and Peeta Mellark, whose victory was extremely polarizing and further caused rebellions and chaos in several Districts.

President Snow wanted to kill all victors because he knew that the only thing stronger than fear is hope. The latest victors from the 74th Annual Hunger Games showed not only the capacity to beat the Capitol (because this was the first Hunger Games ever that more than one tribute won), but how love and unison can be powerful. He noticed that the Districts were already starting to unite and considering a rebellion using Katniss as their Mockingjay to unite Panem, feeding them with hope and taking him out of power.

The Third Quell has been a major plot twist. The Capitol broke the trust of many victors and citizens by not keeping the tradition that once you win the Games, you may live a peaceful life and keep your name out of the reaping ball forever.…

Rebellion

A great majority of the 24 victors reaped got extremely furious from once again facing fatal conditions on the arena and also having high chances of dying in combat. However, District 13, the District that many believed that was actually destroyed during the dark days, has been plotting a rebellion to end once and for all The Hunger Games and President Snow's dictatorship. Several of the reaped tributes were conspiring with District 13, Plutarch Heavensbee (Head Gamemaker) and also Haymitch to destroy the arena to save Katniss Everdeen, the face of their upcoming rebellion. Tributes such as Finnick Odair, Johanna Mason and Beetee knew about the plan to destroy the arena and were willing to risk their lives in order to save Katniss Everdeen from the arena.

As the official Head Gamemaker, Plutarch Heavensbee- who was secretly working with District 13- had the power to control what was going to be inside the arena. Having that in mind, Plutarch placed a coil of conductive wire among the supplies on the Cornucopia, disguised as a District 3 item. The plan was basically to break the arena by channeling lighting from the "Lightning Tree" to the force field, by creating a massive explosion. Katniss and Peeta, at the start, believed they were going to kill the Careers.

President Snow + The Committee

Not all tributes were taken to District 13 due to time constraints. Peeta, Johana Manson and Enobaria were taken to the Capitol and kept at President Snow's mansion. For the first time in Panem history after the Dark Days, the Arena was broken and the Capitol was shown to be weak. The tributes had shown that hope and togetherness can beat the Capitol.

The rebellion only got stronger with the unexpected ending of the 75th Hunger Games, instead of ending the rebellion or making it weaker, the 3rd Quell just made it stronger. After for the first time beating the Capitol after 75 years, the people were ready and determined to put an end to all the inequality, despair, and miserable conditions they had been kept in. Their voices were finally going to be heard.

President Snow then announced that if the rebellion didn't stop in a week, he would declare a civil war against all rebelling Districts and make them face harsh conditions until their opinion changes about the Capitol also announcing the immediate public execution of Peeta, Johanna Manson and Enobaria. In desperation, both a majority of Capitol citizens and Districts started to panic and protest against this radical decision from President Snow.

The rebellion only got worse with the upcoming protests. However, before the 7-day deadline President Snow imposed, Katniss offered him to open a committee where she would choose representatives to find a common ground. All the representatives were involved in the Hunger Games (drafting/playing/leading) and will each receive a vote for a resolution, where a simple majority (50% + 1) will be required to make it pass, thereby deciding the future of Panem. The committee would be a safe place, where all ideas shared would be confidential, no one would be punished inside it and the only thing that would leave there would be the final resolution.

Fearing the rebellion and totally losing his power, President Snow accepted Katniss' offer on building the committee that followed the theme of Investigating the Ethical Implications of the Hunger Games. This committee will discuss the Games, Panem's political structure, District conditions and the fate of all captured Tribute.

MAJOR BLOC POSITIONS

Katniss Everdeen

Katniss Everdeen is the main protagonist of The Hunger Games. Her story officially begins when Primrose Everdeen, her sister, is the female reaped to represent District 12, and so Katniss, a young 16 year old girl, bravely raises her hand and volunteers as Tribute. (That seemingly small action eventually gives way to a much bigger revolution). However, as she arrives at the Capitol, she strikes a marking impression on all as 'The girl on fire' due to her personalised and iconic clothing, and defiant features. At the training sessions, Katniss has to make use of her archery skills, determination, and resilience in a fight for a chance to survive. Finally, they reach the Arena, where Katniss encounters many challenges, yet she manages to make an alliance, or rather, a bond, with a little girl named Rue, who later dies and leaves a mark on Katniss and all others she cared for. Still, after a series of challenges and losses, Katniss Everdeen and Peeta Mellark were the victors of the 74th Hunger Games. Katniss returns home, as 'The girl on fire', the girl who survived, thinking it is all over. Yet, for the Third Quarter Quell, the 75th Hunger Games, the Capitol decides to reassemble all past victors of the Hunger Games to reveal the strongest victor. Katniss forms alliances with Finnick Odair and Beetee, which prove very useful in the Arena. As the Hunger Games begin, Katniss notices a series of patterns concerning the obstacles that the Capitol put for allTributes. Finding a perfect opportunity, Katniss then shoots an arrow at a bolt of thunder, which breaks the forcefield and blows up the Arena. Katniss wakes up in District 13, the District which was assumed b+to be destroyed, and to her surprise, where she is told a rebellion will happen. Additionally, Katniss, the symbol of defiance, the Mockingjay, will lead it, fighting against the oppression, corruption and unethical behavior of the capitol. Delegates playing the role of Katniss Everdeen will completely oppose the continuation of the Hunger Games , and will make all understand and question its ethical implications.

President Snow

Coriolanus Snow is the despot who rules and has ruled over Panem for over 20 years. He is the main antagonist of the Hunger Games. Snow was born into the wealthy Snow family, which was growing more irrelevant and poorer as he grew up. He soon lost both his parents during the Dark Days. He then attended the Academy (in the Capitol) where he was one of the best students, running for the Plinth Prize, which would result in a large sum of money. Yet first, he has to mentor the District 12 female tribute, Lucy Gray Baird. He starts to form a connection with her as she enchanted the whole of Panem with her musical gifts. Snow then draws the attention of Volumnia Gaul, the head Gamemaker, with his successful implementations and ideas to draw attention from the public to the Hunger Games. His Tribute, Lucy Gray, is also the winning tribute of the 10th Hunger Games. Snow then moves up quickly: after studying military strategy at the university, he then serves as a beginner Gamemaker, who creates the Victor's Village and makes various changes to the Hunger Games. After eliminating all his enemies, Snow makes his way to the presidency, where he rules vigorously and makes Panem more authoritarian than it already was. He uses propaganda, violence, and torture to keep Districts in order. He manages to prevent rebellions; however, after the 74th Hunger Games, all the repressed fear over decades would explode, giving way to a new rebellion. Delegates playing the role of Coriolanus Snow will completely stand by his principals, supporting the continuation of the games with his all, especially because of how he is the president of them.

Gale Hawthorne

Gale Hawthorne is Katniss Everdeen's best friend. They met at 14 years old, and have been close ever since. When the Reaping ceremony for the 74th hunger games occurs, Gale and Katniss are only 16 years old. Gale, enraged at the Capitol for all its oppression and harsh conditions over the years, tells Katniss that they can run away, yet in the end they both face reality and comprehend they must stay. When Katniss volunteers as the female tribute for District 12, Gale is devastated. After she is taken, Gale steps up and helps Katniss' family with supplies and meals asking for nothing in return. Yet, once the love-story between Peeta and Katniss is displayed for all to see, it becomes very painful for Gale to see the girl whom he is in love with kissing another boy. After the 74th Hunger Games reach an end, and Katniss Everdeen and Peeta Mellark are the victors, Katniss returns home. However, she is very confused about whether she loves Peeta or not, and whether she has betrayed Gale, her most loyal friend, during this whole story. It all escalates when Peeta proposes to Katniss on the victory tour. Although Katniss reveals that the engagement is fake, she also cannot love anyone at such a time, even Gale. After a while, Gale is arrested and is whipped by Peacekeepers before Katniss, Haymitch and Peeta manage to persuade the Peacekeepers to stop. During the Third Quarter Quell, Gale watches from District 12. Yet once the Capitol bombs District 12 as a punishment for Katniss' escape, Gale manages to save 900 people, and is by Katniss' side as she wakes up after being rescued, telling her that their home was destroyed. Delegates playing the role of Gale Hawthorne will completely oppose the continuation of the Hunger Games, using as evidence all the lives he couldn't save and how he saw the love of his life suffer endlessly.

Volumnia Gaul

Volumnia Gaul was the first head Gamemaker of the Hunger Games. She views the Games as a way to manipulate and control Panem, ensuring order throughout the Districts. After all, games are a way to study the behavior of humans under life-threatening conditions. When mentors are assigned to the tributes, Gaul often tests them, assigning them dangerous tasks, with a special attention to Coriolanus Snow, the son of Crassus Snow. Dr Gaul frequently explores the violent nature of humans which is exposed during war, by ordering Snow to retrieve Sejanus Plinth from the Arena, a dangerous task which results in Snow killing a tribute. Gaul uses fear as a weapon, using psychological games to reach the conclusion that chaos is the natural state of humans. Under her influence, Snow learns how to use knowledge of others and manipulation as a weapon, which eventually contributes to his journey to presidency. In addition, Dr. Gaul also creates the famous phrase 'May the odds ever be in your favour'. Dr. Gaul will be very in favour of the continuation of the games, seeing as she is the very creator of it.

Plutarch Heavensbee

Plutarch Heavensbee is the Capitol figure who secretly leads the second rebellion. Plutarch worked as a cameraman during the 50th Hunger Games, and even then showed signs of sympathizing with Districts. Yet, he said nothing, and just quietly gathered information and influence over the years. After the execution of the former head gamemaker, Plutarch becomes the head Gamemaker, and secretly makes a plan to break the Arena during the 75th hunger games, and rescue Katniss Everdeen. During the second rebellion, Plutarch moves to District 13 and helps coordinate military and political strategies against the Capitol. Delegates in this position will oppose the hunger games and support everything this committee stands for.

Finnick Odair

Finnick Odair is the male tribute from District 4 who won the 65th hunger games at 14 years old, being the youngest victor in history. He is known for his charisma and natural skills in the Arena. Although Finnick is publicly treated as a celebrity, in secret, President Snow exploits Finnick, who is under threat to his loved ones and so creates a confident identity to hide all of his trauma. When Finnick is reaped again for the Third Quarter Quell, he makes alliances with Katniss, Peeta, Mags and others with the true intention of breaking the Arena and rescuing Katniss. After the rescue, Finnick is also taken to District 13, where he finds out Annie Cresta, the love of his life, is in Capitol custody.

Beetee Latier:

Beetee Latier is from District 3, and wins the 34th Hunger Games by using his intelligence and strategic thinking rather than force. He later mentors Wiress in the 49th Hunger Games and, in secret, redesigns Panem's broadcast system before the rebellion. As punishment for Beetee's attempt of sabotage, his son is reaped and dies during the 50th Hunger Games, whilst Beetee is forced to watch. In the 75th Hunger Games, Beetee and Wiress are reaped again and make an alliance with Katniss and Peeta. In the Arena, after Wiress is killed, Beetee proposes using wire to conduct lightning into the force field in order to break it, and the plan works successfully as Katniss completely blows up the Arena. Beetee is then rescued by District 13 and designed weapons for the rebellion. Delegates in this position must consider Beetee's strategical thinking and how he represents an intellectual threat to the capitol rather than a dangerous one when embodying this delegation.

Ceaser Flickerman

Ceaser Flickerman has hosted the Hunger Games for over 40 years. Caesar has the role of interviewing all tributes, and using humor and warmth to hide the reality of the Hunger Games; the reality that many of the tributes will never be seen again, and will brutally die in the Arena. He forms great relationships with the tributes, adapting to each of their different characteristics. His friendly reassurance helps turn weak answers into powerful moments. His love for fashion and spectacle lightens the situation, and makes him a very beloved host by all of Panem. Caesar Flickerman does not oppose the Capitol's oppression, quite the opposite. He is only a host who means well and plays along with the established system. Delegates in this position must think about the duality in this character: he cannot oppose the system because he is a part of it, however he cannot hide what has been digitally documented by the media. Furthermore, delegates must find a balance in between the limitations Ceaser Flickerman is under in order to thrive.

Claudius Templesmith

Claudius Templesmith is the official Hunger Games announcer, whose voice is always broadcasted in the Arena to announce any rule change, any deaths or any victories. He often comments on Capitol broadcasts and comments with Cesar Flickerman, always discussing tributes, costumes, personalities and chances in the Arena. It can be inferred that Claudius Templesmith, working for the Capitol, will clearly support the continuation of the games, and have similar principles as Ceaser Flickerman.

TIMELINE OF EVENTS

Date	Description
Dark Days 3 BDD - 0 ADD	After the world was in ruins due to natural disasters and war, Panem was established in North America. Once, it consisted of 13 Districts and a Capitol holding all the power, until the Dark Days began. The Dark Days were a major Civil War armed by District 13 with all other 12 Districts participating with the goal to end the Capitol's suppression. The Capitol answered the Civil War with its superior military force, mutations, major violence and destruction. A pivotal moment was when after three years of war the Capitol secretly signed a contract with District 13 to end the civil war by publicly announcing that it was wiped out by the Capitol ultimate force, however they retreated underground. The rebellion collapsed after the main donor of weapons and head had been “defeated”, and the Capitol then claimed victory upon the Districts, creating the Treaty of Treason.

10th Hunger Games 10 ADD	The 10th annual Hunger Games was the first one to introduce mentors, which were 24 of the Capitol Academy's best seniors; among them Corialanus Snow. He mentored Lucy Gray, the female tribute from District 12 who eventually became the first District 12 victor ever. She was also the first one to have a host and dedicated media coverage (such as interviews). Furthermore, Coriolanus Snow found the possibility to ascend politically and socially, by being Dr. Gaul's (Head Gamemaker) apprentice of The Hunger Games due to the fact he called her attention due to his innovative ideas such as but not limited to betting on the tributes.
25th Hunger Games (first Quell) 25 ADD	The 25th Annual Hunger Games featured the first Quarter Quell, with the twist that instead of tributes being randomly selected, this year, Districts would hold an election to select their tributes.
50th Hunger Games (second Quell) 50 ADD	The 50th Annual Hunger Games featured the second Quarter Quell, with the twist that the amount of tributes per District would double from 2 to 4. This year, the victor was Haymitch Abernathy, one of the male tributes from District 12. Haymitch was the second ever victor from 12, with a 40-year distance from the previous victor: Lucy Gray. The arena of the Second Quell edition was described as “the most breathtaking place imaginable” filled with flowers and green meadows. Everything in the arena was poisoned, except the resources from the Cornucopia. The arena also had a deadly volcano that later erupted and killed several tributes.

74th Hunger Games 74 ADD	The 74th Hunger Games was the first Hunger Games ever to have two victors; Peeta and Katniss, both from District 12. It was both controversial and historical; it showed that love and hope are the most powerful weapon. Both were crowned victors because initially in the middle of the Games, Claudius announced this edition could have 2 victors if they were from the same District. However, as the Games headed towards its end with only Katniss and Peeta alive, Claudius struck this new rule, by saying only one will be crowned as a victor. As a form of protest and resistance, Katniss gave the poisoned berries to Peeta and told him that both would eat them on the count of 3 (where they would kill themselves, so no victor would be crowned). Before the count ended, they were crowned Victors by Claudius.
75th Hunger Games (third Quell) 75 ADD	The 75th Hunger Games was marked not only as the Third Quarter Quell, with the rule that only victors would be reaped; but as the edition of the games that the tributes escaped/broke the Arena, showcasing resilience and strength against the Capitol. The plan was basically to break the arena by channeling lighting from the “Lightning Tree” to the force field, by creating a massive explosion. Plutarch, District 13 and other tributes such as Beete knew the plan and worked toward it to keep Katniss safe and alive for a future upcoming rebellion. The arena for this year's edition was large, functioning like a clock; every hour a catastrophe would happen such as poisonous fog, tsunamis and blood rains.

DEFINITION OF KEY TERMS

Delegates, below you may find definitions of essential terms that are frequently present or mentioned in The Hunger Games:

Arena

A designated area where the games take place.

Dark Days

A Civil War that occurred before the hunger games were established.

Panem

The civilization in which the dystopian society of the Hunger Games occurs.

Capitol

The seat of the government in the nation of Panem, where the Hunger Games are controlled.

Career

A Tribute from Districts 1, 2, 4, who trains for the Hunger Games and is very well-equipped and prepared.

District

One of the 12 regions of Panem that are controlled by the Capitol.

Gamemakers

The officials in the Capitol that design and control the Hunger Games, including the Arena and the challenges faced by tributes.

Reaping

An event in which the Capitol chooses one boy and one girl from each District to compete in the Hunger Games.

Tribute

A person selected to participate from the hunger games from each District.

Cornucopia

Central structure in the Arena filled with weapons and supplies.

Tracker Jackers

Genetically engineered killer wasps used in the Hunger Games.

Mutations

Genetically modified creatures used as weapons.

Sponsors

Wealthy Capitol citizens who can provide small resources to tributes during games.

Nightlock Berries

Deadly berries used by Katniss and Peeta to attain victory.

GUIDING QUESTIONS

- To what extent should the Hunger Games be considered a punishment and a festivity?
- Are Districts being left in harsh and unhuman conditions to avoid a future rebellion?
- Dystopian fiction frequently serves as an indirect critique of existing issues, warning what could happen if those problems developed. What does Suzanne Collins criticize throughout all The Hunger Games saga?
- What measures should the Capitol consider taking to improve overall District life quality and satisfaction?
- Should Districts be considered inferior from the Capitol?

- To what extent does social inequality draw Panem´s society and shape those in power?
- To what extent does the Capitol use propaganda to control its fellow citizens, and how is that effective?

WORKS CITED

"75th Hunger Games." The Hunger Games Wiki, Fandom, Inc., thehungergames.fandom.com/wiki/75th_Hunger_Games. Accessed 28 Jan. 2026.

Collins, Suzanne. Catching Fire. Scholastic, 1 Sept. 2009.

---. Sunrise on the Reaping. Scholastic, 18 Mar. 2025.

---. The Ballad of Songbirds and Snakes. Scholastic Press, 19 May 2020.

---. The Hunger Games. Scholastic Inc., 2008.

"Beetee Latier." The Hunger Games Wiki, Fandom, Inc., thehungergames.fandom.com/wiki/Beetee_Latier. Accessed 28 Jan. 2026.

"Caesar Flickerman." The Hunger Games Wiki, Fandom, Inc., thehungergames.fandom.com/wiki/Caesar_Flickerman. Accessed 28 Jan. 2026.

"Claudius Templesmith." The Hunger Games Wiki, Fandom, Inc., thehungergames.fandom.com/wiki/Claudius_Templesmith. Accessed 28 Jan. 2026.

"Coriolanus Snow." The Hunger Games Wiki, Fandom, Inc., thehungergames.fandom.com/wiki/Coriolanus_Snow. Accessed 28 Jan. 2026.

"Finnick Odair." The Hunger Games Wiki, Fandom, Inc., thehungergames.fandom.com/wiki/Finnick_Odair. Accessed 28 Jan. 2026.

"Gale Hawthorne." The Hunger Games Wiki, Fandom, Inc., thehungergames.fandom.com/wiki/Gale_Hawthorne. Accessed 28 Jan. 2026.

"Hunger Games." Fandom, Fandom, Inc., www.fandom.com/universe/hunger-games#all-titles. Accessed 23 Nov. 2025.

Johnson, Zariya. "Why There Wasn't a Victor at the 75th Hunger Games in Catching Fire." ScreenRant, 15 Sept. 2024, screenrant.com/catching-fire-75th-hunger-games-no-winner-explained/. Accessed 21 Nov. 2025.

"Katniss Everdeen." The Hunger Games Wiki, Fandom, Inc., thehungergames.fandom.com/wiki/Katniss_Everdeen. Accessed 28 Jan. 2026.

"Panem." The Hunger Games Wiki, Fandom, Inc., thehungergames.fandom.com/wiki/Panem. Accessed 28 Jan. 2026.

"Plutarch Heavensbee." The Hunger Games Wiki, Fandom, Inc., thehungergames.fandom.com/wiki/Plutarch_Heavensbee. Accessed 28 Jan. 2026.

"The Hunger Games." The Hunger Games Wiki, Fandom, Inc., thehungergames.fandom.com/wiki/The_Hunger_Games. Accessed 28 Jan. 2026.

Wikipedia contributors. "The Hunger Games (Novel)." Wikipedia, Wikimedia Foundation, 3 May 2019, en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Hunger_Games_(novel). Accessed 28 Jan. 2026.

"Volumnia Gaul." The Hunger Games Wiki, Fandom, Inc., thehungergames.fandom.com/wiki/Volumnia_Gaul. Accessed 28 Jan. 2026.